Dear Sir or Madam

The ICA 2018 is getting really close. In less than six weeks more than 2,700 delegates and their accompanying persons will gather in Berlin for the 31st International Congress of Actuaries. We have prepared some suggestions as to how to use the remaining time: Find out why actuaries always had pole positions, read about the mobile app, and watch the video of our platinum partner and exhibitor Allianz.

Circle of Supporters

Gundula Roßbach, President of the Statutory Pension Insurance Scheme

"Actuarial work is of increasing significance for social security systems, especially in the field of pensions. It can provide guidance for social policy in complex and uncertain times. I am pleased that actuaries of different nationalities will have the opportunity to further their knowledge and increase their skills in Berlin this year."

In total, 10 well-known representatives are members in the national circle of supporters. Have a look at them on the ICA 2018 website.

WITH A SMILE

Pole Position – why actuaries have always been there

Actuaries have always been there, since the beginning of time. They have left their traces in every age and at every place. But actuaries haven't just been present, but shaped the situations actively with their expertise. We have prepared a funny series of several historic happenings where an actuary already had pole position. And they all have one thing in common: Up until today, an actuary had no other choice but to be personally present.

However, the Virtual ICA 2018 will change everything.

Do you want to be part of the Virtual ICA as well? Become a member of the IAA-section - AFIR/ERM, ASTIN, IACA or LIFE and access more than 150 hours of virtual content without any further cost.

One of the exhibitors is platinum sponsor Allianz. A good example of how the ICA 2018 can be used for recruiting new employees can be seen in their video.
